

FRIDAY, JANUARY 11, 2008

Paragon Business Park opens its doors in Romeoville

by

ROMEOVILLE, Ill. | A new office/warehouse condominium project in suburban Romeoville, Ill., is open for business along Interstate 55.

James Hopkins, president of Real Estate Consultants, and Mark Vavruska, the firm's vice president, are reporting the completion of Paragon Business Park located at 552-588 Taylor Road (East of Weber Road) in Romeoville.

Developer First American Properties and contractor Meridian Design Build hosted a ribbon cutting at the building site in October.

Paragon Business Park is set among the collection of "big box" industrial developments along I-55, and features 2,700 to 29,880 square foot units. Its amenities include drive-in doors, depressed docks, 22-foot clear ceilings and ample parking.

Hopkins says its location in Romeoville's business sector provides easy access to I-55 and Route 53, making for easy travel to and through the nearby communities.